Stanley C. Rakestraw

Stanley C. Rakestraw is co-founder, Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of SCR Medical Transportation. His mission is to “take care of the staff and the staff will take care of the customers – and the bottom line will take care of itself.” This philosophy is a very significant factor in SCR’s 25 years of successful operation. Mr. Stanley C. Rakestraw, while he is an experienced and skilled financial manager, is more interested in service and customer satisfaction, staff and intellectual asset development and the good reputation of SCR than he is in mere profit. In fact, he admits that some of the competition may be able to boast of a better profit margin, but he is certain that none of the competition has the same level of customer service and satisfaction, the same high standards of service, cleanliness of its fleet, respect for the customers, nor the happy and productive staff that SCR has. SCR is in the business for the long haul, not the quick buck. The philosophies, shared by the owners of SCR, have greatly contributed to the company’s excellent reputation with its staff, its customers and the industry in general.

Brought up in the South with a respect for his elders and for people in general, Stan Rakestraw has been working since he was 12 years old, driven and committed to autograph everything he does with excellence. Over the years, through extended and continuing formal education and through his more than 30 years’ experience as a manager in healthcare and transportation, he has learned how to motivate others to share his standards and encourage them to strive for the same levels of quality and service that he espouses. “I’ve found that the formula is always the same,” he says. “You treat people right, you let them know what you expect, you set an example through your own attitude and how you conduct yourself and it generally will produce what you’re looking for in them.”

All of this is reflected in the close to 700 employees and 300 strong fleet of vehicles at SCR and the service they deliver to the public in and around Chicago.

A hands-on executive, Mr. Rakestraw has an open door policy towards SCR’s customers who can always reach him directly with complaints, compliments or the common greeting. This is a carry-over from his years as manager of a nursing home where he prided himself on knowing every patient by name and making himself accessible to all the residents. Since co-founding SCR with his wife, Pamela Rakestraw, President, in 1986, he has always felt that there should be direct contact between SCR’s customers and the company’s owners. The hands-on approach extends to all the internal working of the company. For example, when it came time to convert SCR’s systems over to computerized reservations and dispatching, Mr. Rakestraw underwent instruction in all the new systems and was personally involved in making the switch. If he is going to ask his staff to do something, he wants to make sure it is something he can do himself.

Education

Mr. Rakestraw studied at Tennessee State University in Nashville, Tennessee, and his education has continued throughout his long and successful career. He attended the University of Illinois and Roosevelt where he took graduate courses and as recently as 2003 he completed further courses at the Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Management, as a participant in its Minority Director Development program. Mr. Rakestraw is licensed as a Nursing Home Administrator in the State of Illinois and is a Certified Passenger Assistance Technician.

Experience

The earlier part of Mr. Rakestraw's career was spent in a series of increasingly responsible positions including Financial Auditor for a government economic development office and Internal Auditor for a major Chicago area hospital. He developed skills which enabled him to increase financial efficiency and viability, including in one company reducing overhead costs due to mismanagement by 25% while improving the level of service delivery of the institution.

Mr. Rakestraw went on to administrate nursing homes ranging from 65 to 245 beds, improving the quality of patient care while maintaining profit margins. His responsibilities in this role ranged from implementing appropriate financial controls to developing training programs and hiring physician staff. In the three instances where he held this role, he maintained an annual census in excess of 95% for nursing home occupancy.

Prior to founding SCR, Mr. Rakestraw was the principal in a health care consulting firm where he assisted clients in the development and implementation of management systems, providing marketing support, trouble-shooting, recruitment, as well as developing policies and procedures for key aspects of his clients' operations. During this period, Mr. Rakestraw demonstrated his talent as a turnaround consultant. As a result of his skills and aptitudes, a major client experienced a reversal of a business downturn and grossed $800,000 in revenues during the first two years of employing Mr. Rakestraw's services.

Wider Involvement

Mr. Rakestraw prides himself on keeping abreast of national trends and has brought in and overseen numerous transportation experts in various fields to partner with and ensure that SCR is at the forefront of the industry's best practices. Mr. Rakestraw has also led SCR's resolve to be at the forefront of industry relevant emerging technology.

Mr. Rakestraw's involvement in helping the physically and mentally challenged has also led him to take active roles in national organizations. He is on the Board of Directors of the leading industry group, the Taxicab, Limousine and Paratransit Association (TLPA) and has served for many years on the Board of Directors of Gateway International. In 2008 Mr. Rakestraw was recognized by the TLPA for his services to the organization while sitting on the board of directors.

Recognitions

In 2011 The Illinois Black Chamber of Commerce recognized Mr. Stanley Rakestraw and his wife with the Outstanding Business of the Year award. SCR has been honored with several business awards including the Bank of America Small Business Award in 1996. The Taxicab, Limousine and Paratransit Association (TLPA) named SCR Paratransit Operator of the Year in 2004. They also named SCR driver, Larry Lewis, Paratransit Driver of the Year in 2005 and Arthur Thomas for the year 2010. SCR was awarded the Chatham Business of the Year award in 2004 and most recently the 2010 Excellence in Business Leadership Award.

The Future

In the last 18 months or so, SCR has grown from about 245 to close to 700 employees and a fleet of 300 vehicles.

Over the next five years the goal is to duplicate its current local operations in other municipalities – to go national and provide a similar local type service in other areas throughout the country. Already, the company has taken significant and successful steps in that direction, spearheaded by Mr. Rakestraw and his ambitions.
